

We find no record of Corina Dumitrescu as having been enrolled in or graduated from a degree-granting program at Stanford University.

Stanford has many study programs that do not grant degrees. These include programs for executives or government officials wishing to delve further into particular areas of interest. They range in duration from daylong seminars to months-long programs.

Without more specific information, we cannot be more helpful in answering your inquiry, except to say that Corina Dumitrescu does not hold a degree from Stanford.

You will need to ask her directly for more specifics about what she may have studied here.

Best wishes,

Kate Chesley

>> Associate Director

>> University Communications

>> Stanford University

>> Stanford, CA 94305